

Nina Hoe Gallagher, Ph.D., Director of Research & Evaluation, ImpactED, University of Pennsylvania.

Nina Hoe Gallagher, Ph.D. (Center City) is Director of Research & Evaluation at ImpactED at the University of Pennsylvania. Nina works with organizations and government agencies to evaluate their impact on the communities they serve. She has worked with dozens of organizations to use research and data to drive positive change, locally, nationally and internationally. Her areas of expertise include program evaluation, study and instrument design, data collection and analysis, public opinion research, in-person interviews and focus groups, statistics, and project management. Nina holds a BA from Colorado College in Anthropology and International Affairs and an M.S.Ed. and Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania in Education. Nina is a board member of Friends of the Wissahickon, an advisory committee member of the Center for Public Purpose at the William Penn Charter School, and a Democratic Committee Person in the 15th ward.